'BEST OUT OF WASTE' INTER- CLASS COMPETITION ORGANISED BY 'ECO CLUB' FOR CLASSES VI-XII
SESSION 2017-18

In the contemporary times of technological advancement and rapid development, humans have reached a stage where they are contemplating whether in the course of apparent progress they are creating solutions or more problems for themselves. One of the most important arenas in this context is the problem of waste disposal, its effect on environment and inevitably on humans. To make children realize the importance of this critical issue and further stimulate their creative potential to discover progressive solutions in this regard the 'Eco Club' of St Cecilia's Public School, Vikaspuri, New Delhi organized an inter class bulletin board decoration competition with the pertinent concept of 'Best out of waste'.

Students were given sufficient time to creatively plan for the best utilization of waste from their daily life and effectively organize them to depict a theme on any environmental or related social issue of concern.

The event witnessed students blooming with out of the box innovative ideas to use the waste material in such an impactful way that the 4R principle of Reduce, reuse, recycle and recover came alive in the educational passages of the school. The activity was a beautiful blend of putting children's problem solving ability at the core, supplementing with the principles of team work, co-ordination and management to put forth an impressive display out of waste material alone. The activity was a great learning and enriching experience for not only the participants but also the other students who could realize and appreciate the efforts of their schoolmates in bringing life meaningfully to the conventionally lifeless waste material. This competition was an endeavor on part of the 'Eco club' of the school to sensitize the students towards this important issue and ignite a lamp of making them responsible problem solving citizens for the state and dutiful children of Mother nature.

Eco Club's initiative and competition was highly appreciated by Madam Principal. She motivated the students and the teachers to be committed to the cause sincerely.
