"A picture is worth a thousand words"

Rightly said, a picture is not just a picture. It communicates something and tries to have an impact on the viewer. The competition began with a short discussion on the significance of the pictures / photographs. Thereafter, students were given a picture. It had a broken window & a girl peeping through it. Within twenty minutes, the participants had tried to interpret it in their own manner. In the end, they were encouraged to look at pictures with a slight difference from them on. A brief discussion was also carried out on the given picture to familiarize them with the nuances of interpretation.
