Map Activity

Class: 4 and 5

Date: 13.5.26

Topic: Oceans and continents and Asian countries

A map activity on oceans and continents and marking Asian countries was conducted for the students of Classes IV and V. The activity aimed to enhance students geographical knowledge and develop their map-reading skills in an interesting and interactive way.

Students enthusiastically participated in identifying and locating various Asian countries on the world map using the atlas. They also marked the major oceans and continents accurately using different colours and labels. The activity helped them understand the geographical position and importance of different countries and water bodies.

The students showed great interest and confidence while presenting their work. Teachers guided them throughout the activity and encouraged teamwork, accuracy, and neat presentation. Overall, the activity was informative, engaging, and successful in improving students' awareness of world geography while making learning enjoyable.
